

Post-Vaccination Deaths Eyed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Federal officials say there is no evidence that swine flu shots killed three elderly Pennsylvanians whose deaths have prompted authorities in eight states and the Pittsburgh area to suspend the inoculation program.

But if reports continue to link vaccinations with deaths of other elderly persons, the program started two weeks ago "will come to a screeching halt," Dr. J. Donald Millar, an official at the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta, said today.

States where the program was suspended were Texas, Wisconsin, Louisiana, Vermont, Maine, New Mexico, Alaska and Illinois — except for Chicago.

The shots still were being given in at least 18 other states, including most of Pennsylvania.

The CDC said samples of the batch of vaccine used in the Pittsburgh area would be tested at the Bureau of Biologics in Rockville, Md.

"The continued emphasis on what is an expected phenomenon... is going to have a deleterious effect on the program," Millar, director of the CDC's bureau of state services, said in a telephone interview.

Reports of several other elderly persons dying following vaccination surfaced after the partial shutdown Tuesday of the nationwide effort.

Millar said most of the 500,000 doses of the vaccine given out thus far had gone to persons over 65. And he said evidence thus far indicated that elderly persons who were vaccinated were less vulnerable to death than those who refrain from being inoculated.

"We have no evidence to suggest that these deaths (in the Pittsburgh area) were caused by vaccine or the vaccine programs," said Dr. David Sencer, head of the CDC. "Nevertheless, this is a highly unusual cluster of deaths and requires a full investigation."

Sencer said the deaths are "going to make our job much more difficult," in convincing Americans to participate in the program.

In New York, Michigan and Utah, where the program continued, health officials suspended use of vaccine shipped in the same lot as that given to the three persons who died in Pennsylvania.

Those three victims — two women and a man, all in their 70s — died within several hours of getting vaccinations at a public health center in Pittsburgh, according to the county coroner. The Allegheny County coroner said the three had histories of heart or lung trouble.

The type of vaccine received by the three victims was produced by Parke Davis & Co. of Detroit and was part of lot A913339A. Sencer said about 1 million to 1½ million doses were in the lot, which was distributed mostly in the East.

Health officials in some states said they intended to go ahead with the vaccination program using dosages from that lot.

The three who died in Pennsylvania received a combination vaccine for elderly and high risk patients designed to prevent both swine flu and Type-A Victoria flu, which was prevalent last winter.

The Pennsylvania victims were Charles Gabig, 71, Julia Bucci, 75, and Ella Michael, 74 — all of suburban towns.

Mrs. Bucci's daughter, Jennie, who was at the South Side clinic with her mother, said, "My mother felt excellent before she received the shot, but became ill within minutes after she had the injection."

The South Side clinic was closed as a precautionary measure. Then all inoculation centers in Allegheny County were shut down. This was followed by the state actions. The city of Philadelphia discontinued use of vaccine from lot A913339A.

Illinois officials said they were suspending the program as a "precautionary measure until we obtain more information concerning these deaths." However, city officials in Chicago, who deal directly with the federal government in administering the program, said they would continue giving shots "based on the information we have now."

In New York, state officials ordered 120,000 doses of Parke Davis vaccine withheld, but New York City used some of the vaccine.

Wisconsin health officials said they were suspending the program for the time being. "At such time the CDC reports its findings, which it expects to do within the next 72 hours, we will announce resumption or possible modification of the swine flu immunization program."

After some of the states canceled inoculations, Sencer said, "We have not recommended that programs be suspended or discontinued. We do not feel that there is evidence that this is warranted. But again, we recognize the autonomy of the state."

Sencer said the center had expected some unrelated deaths among people who received the vaccine but who would have had heart attacks anyway.

In Miami, 63-year-old Saul Gelman died of an apparent heart attack at a bowling alley Tuesday, 90 minutes after being vaccinated at a Broward County clinic, health officials said.

Broward County health officials said the vaccine came from the same batch delivered to Allegheny County. But Dr. Paul Hughes, director of the county health department, said he doubted the death was related to the vaccine.

Dr. Paul Bowers, director of the Oklahoma City-County Health Department, said he had received reports of two elderly persons dying about one hour after receiving the vaccine.

Allegheny County Coroner Cyril Wecht said two other persons became sick after getting shots there.

Nashville, Tenn., health officials said an 86-year-old woman there died of a heart attack Saturday less than 24 hours after being vaccinated against swine flu.

The CDC said an elderly Boston man died in his sleep the evening after getting his shot. And a 75-year-old Michigan man with a history of cardiac problems died Tuesday after receiving a shot Monday.

Government scientists said serious reaction to any flu vaccine is extremely rare. They said there have been no documented fatalities associated with vaccines used over the past 30 years.

Proponents of the swine flu inoculation program said no serious side effects developed among the more than 5,000 persons who participated in field trials of the vaccine.

Ford Calls Carter Leadership Minor Leaguer

By DAVE RILEY
Associated Press Writer

President Ford says he has "a pretty good batting average" in giving leadership compared with Jimmy Carter, despite the Earl Butz affair and confusion over Ford's statements on Eastern Europe and the Arab boycott of Israel.

As Ford was launching a tour of New York and New Jersey on Tuesday, Democratic nominee Jimmy Carter began a twoday rest at his home in Plains, Ga., before his own trip to New York on Thursday.

A new Gallup Poll showed the two candidates nearly neck-and-neck in their race for the White House, but the poll results were admittedly outdated before their release.

George Gallup Sr. said the polling results taken just before last Thursday's debate in San Francisco show Carter and Ford "just about even."

The Washington Post said the figures show Carter leading Ford by 47 to 45 per cent.

Gallup said, "We are making a new poll, but the figures aren't all in yet." He said early returns from the new poll show Carter regaining some of the ground he had lost.

But Gallup denied a report in the Post that the new poll will show a Carter gain of as much as 10 per cent. Gallup said, "No, that's totally wrong" when asked about the Post figures.

Ford traveled by motorcade through crowded New York streets, was picketed and heckled at some points and cheered at others.

The two vice presidential candidates, Democratic Sen. Walter Mondale and Republican Sen. Bob Dole, spent Tuesday preparing for their nationally televised debate Friday night, but Dole also campaigned in Tennessee.

Ford met late Tuesday with a group of New York news executives and was asked about Democratic charges that he showed poor leadership in dealing with three recent incidents:

The obscene slur about blacks by Butz; Ford's statement in last week's debate that the Soviets do not dominate Eastern Europe; and confusion over his stand on releasing the names of U.S. corporations that cooperate with the Arab boycott.

But Ford said, "On a comparative basis, I think my leadership, if you take those kinds of things, is a pretty good batting average and (Carter) is a minor leaguer."

Ford cited the Sinai agreement and U.S. efforts to mediate disputes in southern Africa as "the things that count as leadership, not the shopping list" of troubles that has plagued the Ford campaign.

Ford has been criticized by Democrats for his failure to fire Butz for making the obscene racial remark. Butz finally offered his resignation.

But Ford told the New York news

'Nobody' Said Gaining In Presidential Race

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — They held a presidential campaign rally in front of City Hall — and Nobody showed up.

But that was fine with Wavy Gravy and the rest of the crowd from the Nobody for President campaign, who kicked off a national tour under a warm October sun in Civic Plaza on Tuesday.

The arrival of the candidate was strategically timed for late in the rally. The candidate's motorcade, a battered sportscar, drove across the sidewalk with a bunting-festooned wooden chair mounted on the trunk.

Nobody was sitting in it.

Around the improvised stage were hung banners carrying slogans such as "Nobody loves the poor," "Nobody will end war," and "Nobody will lower your taxes."

Gravy, a San Francisco Bay area counterculture hero who said he's Nobody's Fool, was smeared with white clown makeup for the occasion. He told the estimated 200 people gathered around the reflecting pool that Nobody would address the crowd.

Then, a pair of plastic windup teeth chattered into the microphone in response to questions on foreign and domestic issues.

Gravy, along with other antiestablishment figures of the 1960s and early '70s, ran the Hog Farm commune in Sonoma County north of San Francisco. The group became known for rock music festivals and carnivals and for a variety of zany antics centered on the area's counterculture lifestyle.

Paul Krassner, editor of The Realist magazine and himself a substantial counterculture figure, told the crowd he wanted to see Nobody get elected.

"If we need an official greeter for the country, we can get Harry Belafonte or Paul Newman," he said.

Even Democratic hopeful Jimmy Carter gave Nobody a boost on one visit to San Francisco, Krassner said, when he told the throng assembled to see him that "nobody has all the answers."

"We all cheered and he didn't quite know why," Krassner said.

The cross-country tour is scheduled for stops in Los Angeles, Albuquerque, N.M., Austin, Tex. and Washington, winding up in New York's Washington Square on election day, Nov. 2.

Gravy, Nobody's manager on the campaign trail, said his candidate has a good chance to win the election. He pointed out that 40 per cent of eligible voters in the last presidential election voted for nobody.

Zoning Law Appeal Could Be Landmark

WASHINGTON (AP) — Does a virtually all-white community have to alter its zoning laws so low-income minority families can move in?

The Supreme Court's answer to that question may carry far-reaching consequences for suburban areas now closed to racially integrated public housing. The court was to hear arguments today in the case of an affluent Chicago suburb that claims it has no such obligation.

The Arlington Heights, Ill., board of trustees, is asking the high court to overturn a Seventh U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruling that the board was guilty of racial discrimination when it refused to rezone a 15-acre plot of land for a low-income housing project.

The board had refused in 1971 to rezone the property to allow construction of Lincoln Green, a federally subsidized development of 195 townhouses.

The Metropolitan Housing Development Corp., a non-profit organization set up in 1968 to build low-income housing, then sued the board.

The appeals court, ruling in favor of Metropolitan, said Arlington Heights had violated the constitutional equal protection rights of prospective minority group residents of the planned townhouses.

The community's trustees appealed to the Supreme Court and argued that the appeals court's decision would "give special privileges in housing and zoning to low-income persons, regardless of race."

"No zoning ordinance in the United States will be sustained in the face of an argument that a higher percentage of minority group or poor people generally could occupy an area if the zoning were downgraded," the board said.

According to 1970 census figures, Arlington Heights had almost 55,000 residents and 27 of them were black.

The board denied that its refusal to rezone the land had racial overtones and said that if some poor persons were denied housing, it was because of economics.

"The Federal Housing Act does not prohibit discrimination on the basis of poverty," the board said.

In its decision, the appeals court referred to the need of a "compelling interest" for a community to deny such a housing project. It ruled that Arlington Heights could not show a legitimate, compelling interest why the land in question shouldn't be rezoned.

If the justices accept that rationale, municipalities may find that similar legal tests will be applied to their future zoning decisions.

Broad Workmen's Comp Probe Set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A scandal in the Bureau of Workmen's Compensation has taken on a new dimension with an order by Gov. James A. Rhodes for a full-scale statewide investigation of what he termed a "gigantic pattern of fraud."

"I believe that this will turn out to be the greatest scandal in the history of Ohio, involving more people and more money than any previous wrongdoing," Rhodes said Tuesday.

The governor said William Johnston, chairman of the Industrial Commission, will ask the Controlling Board on Monday for funds to set up two-man investigation teams in Cleveland, Akron, Youngstown, Columbus, Cincinnati, Dayton and Toledo. He estimated the probe will cost $500,000 for the remainder of the biennium.

"Since the pattern of fraud involves the use of dummy companies for filing of workmen's compensation claims, it will be necessary to employ more investigators in every section of the state to conduct a case-by-case review of all companies and claims filed," Rhodes said.

Rhodes's announcement follows his call for a special session of the legislature also next Monday to act on his demand for the ouster of Industrial Commissioner Gregory Stebbins for alleged corruption while serving on the three-member board. The Industrial Commission settles disputes in benefit cases.

On Oct. 1, Rhodes' own appointee as administrator of the Bureau of Workmen's Compensation, Kenneth Krouse, was eased out of the position and given a lower paying job on the Environmental Board of Review.

Rhodes said Johnston has informed him that it is likely there will be several hundred indictments in Cuyahoga County alone for fraud, embezzlement and other criminal activity in connection with workmen's compensation awards. A number of indictments, involving workmen's compensation cases, were handed down last summer in the Cleveland area.

"Most cases investigated so far indicate that the floodgates to this criminal activity opened in 1973 and 1974," Rhodes said. "However, I have ordered that the investigation cover all abuses, no matter what administration

Staff Cuts Made In State Agency

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation has cut its administrative staff by 103 employees in the last 21 months, Director Timothy B. Moritz said Tuesday.

The central and district offices were cut by 66 employees, and department farms lost 37 workers. However, Moritz said indicators in both areas show production is increasing.

they occurred in," he added.

The administration of former Gov. John J. Gilligan was in power in the years mentioned by Rhodes. Stebbins, a Democrat, was appointed by Gilligan.

"The working men and women and the employers of Ohio can be assured that this administration will not stop until corruption in the system is rooted out, and integrity restored," Rhodes promised.

Fair Skies, Cool Air Dominant

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Fair skies and seasonably cool temperatures dominated most of the nation early today.

Some high clouds covered much of the Gulf Coast, the northern Rockies and an area from the Great Lakes into the upper half of the Mississippi Valley. A few sprinkles were reported in parts of Minnesota, Wisconsin, Upper Michigan and southern Florida, but the remainder of the nation was clear.

Temperatures were again on the cool side along the Atlantic Coast, with 40s reaching as far south as northern Florida, and 30s as far south as North Carolina.

Temperatures in the 40s also prevailed across the northern Plains, and readings in the 50s were common elsewhere, except for some 60s and 70s in the southern sections of Texas and Florida and in the desert southwest.

Temperatures around the nation at 3 a.m. EDT ranged from 77 at Phoenix, Ariz., and Needles, Calif., to 26 at Craig, Colo.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market swung upward today, rebounding from the steep losses of the past two weeks.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks climbed 5 points in the early going, and advances outnumbered declines by a moderate margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Trading was brisk. Brokers said the market was responding mainly to internal forces that often arise when stocks are "oversold", in Wall Street parlance.

They said word of the agreement on a new contract between striking auto workers and Ford Motor also was a plus.

Ford shares rose 1/2 to 56 1/2.

On Tuesday the Dow Jones industrial average fell 8.47 to 932.35, extending its loss for the past 11 sessions to 80.78 points.

Losers outpaced gainers by about a 5-2 margin among NYSE issues, and the exchange's composite index was down .45 at 53.87.

Big Board volume totalled 18.21 million shares.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was down .76 at 97.96.

Adoption Listing Service Gets Foundation Grant

An $18,000 two-year grant which will facilitate adoption of hard-to-place children throughout the state of Ohio was awarded by the Cleveland Foundation to the Adoption Listing Service of Ohio (ALSO) to continue and expand its unusual information service. The Cleveland-based, non-profit organization is affiliated with the Council On Adoptable Children, (COAC).

ALSO was formed through COAC in 1972, and provides a listing exchange which includes pictures of adoptable children. The service allows hard-to-place youngsters needing homes outside their own communities and families who wish to adopt them, wherever in Ohio they might live, to find each other.

ALSO coordinators believe that with the new funding their services will be accepted by all 133 child care agencies in the state, which will participate by sending pictures and descriptions of their waiting children to ALSO. ALSO staff members will code them and provide these agencies with lists of waiting families, whose names have been compiled from inquiries made to agencies throughout the state or from ALSO itself. At the present time, an average of five children find homes through ALSO each month.

ALSO's pictorial service came to an end in December, 1975; although the listings were continued, the organization could no longer afford to include pictures of the children. Participating agencies have indicated to ALSO that the pictorial listings were a unique service in the state, contributing to a larger percentage of adoptions. The funds now available will allow ALSO to return to this innovative method of listing adoptable children.

The children listed by ALSO are usually school-age, many are handicapped, and many are black. Many are a combination of the three and nearly all have emotional problems. ALSO estimates that taxpayers were saved at least $180,000 by the placement of 60 children and 12 families in 1975. The agency projected a cost to the state of $900,000 if these children had not been placed in a permanent home.

Although there are many adoption listing services or exchanges in the country, ALSO is the only one of its kind in the state of Ohio. The need for such services has been recognized by recent state legislation. The Ohio Legislature passed a bill earlier this year requiring all public and private agencies to list their adoptable children with the Ohio Adoption Resource Exchange in Columbus. ALSO's service is free to Ohio's 133 public and private agencies. Each month the listings are updated, a procedure which will be more detailed now that funds are available to pay for it.

With the Cleveland Foundation grant, ALSO plans to expand and provide services to many smaller Ohio counties that are out of the mainstream of adoption activity but have children in need of placement.

Coordinators for ALSO are Jan Lips of Parma and Catherine Hauser of Cleveland. Both are adoptive parents of special-needs children and have operated ALSO for the past two years.

The Cleveland Foundation's grant consists of monies from the funds with the following names: Henry M. Lucas; William C. Fischer; Lillye T. Fischer Memorial Fund; Frank S. Sheets; and the Mary Berryman Fund.

In the local area, the Pickaway County Children Services Board participates in the Adoption Listing Service of Ohio.

Joint Jail At Cincinnati Step Closer

CINCINNATI (AP) — A resumption of plans between Cincinnati and Hamilton County to build a joint jail-rehabilitation appeared likely after Hamilton County Common Pleas Judge Gilbert Bettman Tuesday ordered the Cincinnati Correctional Institute, formerly called the Workhouse, closed within two years.

The jurist acted in a class action suit filed by present and former inmates of the 107-year-old institution. They charged incarceration in the facility constituted cruel and unusual punishment.

The building was originally built as a facility for Union troops during the Civil War. The city converted the castlelike facility to a jail in the 1920s.

Bettman had held off a decision for two years while the city and Hamilton County made plans for a joint facility that would include rehabilitation programs.

The plans were scrapped when the federal government refused an application for a $35 million grant last year.

Bettman said the city has an obligation to either build and operate a new facility or turn the prisoners loose. "Either run the institution with the barest minimum standards for health and decency or don't hold prisoners," Bettman said.

State Continues Flu Vaccinations

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio has no immediate plans to suspend its swine flu immunization program because of the deaths of three elderly persons shortly after receiving shots in Pennsylvania.

David Pitts, assistant coordinator of the Ohio program, said it was unlikely the deaths were due to the vaccine. And he noted that the serum being used in this state is from different lots than that administered in the Pennsylvania cases.

Syrian Tanks Hammer Guerrillas

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Syrian tanks hammered through Palestinian guerrilla defenses east and south of Beirut today in an offensive that killed an Arab League effort for a cease-fire in Lebanon's civil war.

The two-pronged attack took shape when Syrian tanks and infantry opened a second front against guerrilla mountain strongholds east of the capital. This came 24 hours after they launched an assault toward the port city of Sidon in south Lebanon.

In Cairo, Arab League Secretary-General Mahmoud Riad announced suspension of attempts to arrange a cease-fire. He said mediator Hassan Sabry el Khly was asked to return to Cairo to report on his difficulties to an Arab foreign ministers conference scheduled to meet Friday.

Syrian jet fighters streaked low over guerrilla lines round Sidon in apparent intimidation or reconnaissance passes, the Palestinian command said. It reported no bombing.

Palestinian sources said Syrian ground forces stormed through guerrilla positions on the northern and eastern edges of Bhamdoun on the Beirut Damascus highway. The assault was led by tanks behind a barrage of artillery and rocket launchers.

A communique from Yasir Arafat's guerrilla high command said another major target of the mountain offensive was the summer resort town of Aley.

COLUMBUS — Representatives of county welfare departments (CWD), children's services boards (CSB) and juvenile courts will meet October 19, 26 and November 2 with officials of the state welfare department to develop procedures for newly required annual reviews of children placed in the care of private and public child welfare agencies.

The annual review process, created by new legislation this year (Amended Sub. H.B. 156), directs each agency having custody of a child to examine the extent of care, support, and communication by a parent or guardian during the time the child has been in temporary custody, the "nature and utilization" of social services offered to the parent or guardian in order to restore the natural home and return the child to it, and the agency's performance in providing a plan of permanent placement or custody that is in the child's best interests.

Richard Simington, Director, Sandusky CWD, Thomas Porter, Executive Secretary, Lorain County CSB, and David Miller, Executive Secretary, Summit County CSB are the representatives of the Ohio Association of Children's Services Administrators. Representatives from the Ohio Association of Juvenile Court Judges are The Honorable Clayton W. Rose Jr., Franklin County Juvenile Court, The Honorable Allan Davis, Hancock County Juvenile Court, and Hamilton County Juvenile Court supervisor Trudy Backus. Staff from the State Welfare Department's Bureau of Services for Families and Children will also be present.

The initial reviews for children already placed with agencies must be completed no later than April 30, 1977. Children placed with agencies after that date must have their initial reviews done within four months of placement. Thereafter, reviews will be completed annually and submitted to the juvenile courts and the State Welfare Department.

The bill also stipulates that all children in permanent custody of agencies and prospective adoptive parents be listed with the Ohio Department of Public Welfare. These lists must be circulated at least quarterly to all county welfare departments, children's services boards and certified adoption agencies.

Other revisions in adoption by Amended Sub. H.B. 156:

Specifically permits an unmarried adult to adopt,

Provides certain conditions under which a married adult may adopt without his/her spouse's joining in the petition,

Permits the adoption of disabled or mentally retarded adults at any time and of other adults by a former foster parent or stepparent within three years after the person to be adopted attains majority,

Requires consent to adoption of the unmarried father of a child under certain circumstances,

Requires a full accounting of expenditures made or agreed to be made by the petitioner in connection with an adoption,

Prohibits expenditures other than for physician and hospital care, attorneys' fees, and agency services,

Prohibits reopening adoption litigation on any ground after one year from the decree with certain exceptions.

The meetings will be held at the State Office Tower in Columbus, Ohio.

A Page Of Opinion

Quietude Fading

Psychologists have pointed to many factors which they blame for creating tension in people, but probably few have contributed more than noise. Not only must the average person learn to live with noise during his working day, the decibel rating is rising constantly in the home as well.

About To Tee Off

By JIM BISHOP

Golf is to people what trichinosis is to a pig—revenge. It involves rising at ridiculous hours, wearing outrageous garments, driving miles to inaccessible places where the nut croons over the beauty of grass and spends four hours or more hacking it to death with 14 expensive clubs poorly designed to hit a ball.

The tours you read about consist of mercenaries. My tour involves friends I am trying to kill. Some of the finest courses between Hawaii and Scotland have played me. Once, at the Diplomat course in Hollywood, Florida, I fired a 79. That's the day I kept score.

This time I started on the Presidential Course with Oscar Fraley. Mr. Fraley, a little guy with a big dome, is a columnist at Golf magazine. He is also the author of "The Untouchables." On the golf course, he is unspeakable. He hits a one wood from the men's tee halfway to the ladies tee and sobs, "I... HATE... this... game."

studied the question and reported that the noise level in the home has more than doubled in 40 years. Reporting the noise level has risen from 20 decibels four decades ago to 45 today, the publication said: "Safety experts say this lessens a plant worker's chances of returning to his job unfatigued and could make him more prone to suffer a permanent hearing loss. While most industrial noise is fairly constant, or at least expected, off-the-job noise is mostly intermittent and unexpected noise has a more disturbing effect on people."

Ear plugs, anyone?

That's why I invite him to play. Next I tried Bonaventure at Fort Lauderdale. Four of us lost 22 balls in lakes. I told the starter he could earn more money being a stopper. Next time I'll play it in a canoe.

At Red Bank, N. J., Bill Lauten of Century-Twenty One Real Estate invited me to play Bamm Hollow. Lauten is a big ex-Marine who smiles when he is in pain. Of all the men I know, he hits the longest ball into the nearest tree.

Bamm Hollow is encrusted with huge pin oaks and maples. Lauten has nicked every third one. He puts into trees. The smile remains frozen, like a frosty-pop. Strange, he spends all week selling real estate. On Saturdays and Sundays, he tries to destroy it.

This is the great accord among golfers. They suffer together. They sob together. I have never met a happy golfer. There was a fat guy at the Dunes in Las Vegas who said, "She's at the pool with the kids. I'm out here in agony trying to move a ball a dirty, lousy 385 yards, and she says I'm having fun."

When I left Bill Lauten, he was banging his head on ball washers, which is where Bamm Hollow got its name. He remains, however, the best of hosts, one whose beautiful wife Joan places a tin of Band-Aids in his bag.

From there my wife and I journeyed to the Concord Hotel in the Catskills. (She does needle point, she says - ha, ha - while I slaughter myself on the course.)

There I met Vincent Letro, a dear friend. He said there were three courses, one called The Monster, and also a place called Lake Kiamasha where golfers drown themselves. Hackers such as I never play the easy courses. We need a challenge.

If you hit a good ball on The Monster, the Jews call it a mitzvah. Everybody else says it's a miracle. Letro hits as though he's playing polo from the driver's seat of a hearse. I have taken a three wood and hit sod further than the ball.

The last stop was great. We went to see the John McCormacks in Framingham, Mass. Jocko hits a long ball. So does State Senator Dennis McKenna. So does Moose McDonald. And Eddie Shuman, an old friend indeed. They are all on the board posted at around 16 handicaps, the most outrageous thievery since the Brinks robbery.

They play the International Golf Club at Bolton. This, in my estimation, is the cathedral of golf courses. It is breathtakingly beautiful, with plush fairways, greens the size of baseball diamonds, and traps which are built down the middle while your ball is in flight.

From the Tiger Tees, it measures 8,325 yards. The roughs are made of emerald-colored bx cable. The 16th hole, par 3, is 240 yards. The third hole is 660 yards, par 5. I wouldn't play this course from the ladies' tees. I just zing off and yell, "That's zero."

It is the only course I know which will exhaust a man in a golf cart. It is no treat for me to play the finishing hole, 655 yards, all uphill. In the locker room, I hang my head between my knees and ask God what I have done to deserve this.

The athletes pay no attention. They walk by in the nude, a towel over a shoulder like Roman senators. Some have bellies that sag on their thighs. Others have legs like a road map of Florida. They cough a lot. They lie a lot too...

Trade Office Reopened

TOKYO (AP) — An Ohio business delegation today sought Japanese capital investment and expansion of trade between Ohio and Japan at a meeting reopening the state's Far Eastern trade office in Tokyo, a delegation spokesman said.

He said the Ohioans, led by James Duerk, state development director, told about 60 Japanese businessmen that Ohio wants to export more agricultural products like soybeans, corn and wheat as well as machine tools to Japan.

The state in return wants to purchase medical equipment from Japan, the delegation told its Japanese guests at a meeting marking reopening of the trade office, which had been closed since 1971.

The delegation also said Ohio will welcome Japanese capital investment to help develop such industries as machine tools, light and heavy industries, automobile, auto parts and chemical products, the spokesman said.

He said the Japanese businessmen "seemed interested" in various projects mentioned in the meeting.

The delegation, consisting of 28 Ohio businessmen, arrived in Tokyo Saturday on the first leg of a two-week tour of Japan, Hong Kong and Singapore to strengthen economic relations between Ohio and the Asian nations.

LAFF - A - DAY

"This is the Big Wheel speaking!"

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

We are a young couple, 24, and married for two years. Our parents keep hammering away at us to have children. It's gotten so annoying that we're even considering moving to another city. Frankly, we're not sure that we ever want children. Certainly, not now. How can we get our nice parents off our backs?

Mr. and Mrs. J. F., Ohio

Dear Mr. and Mrs. F.: The decision to have and to raise a family is a very personal and a very private one. It cannot be based on the enthusiasm of parents who are anxious to cuddle a grandchild.

Fortunately, today, with the safe contraceptive techniques available, young married people now have an option that was more difficult 20 years ago.

Becoming a parent is a great responsibility. The social, the physical, the emotional and the economic aspects of that responsibility cannot be taken lightly. When young parents are not equipped or ready to assume that obligation, it is wiser, in my opinion, to wait.

With the growth of a young marriage and the solidification of the marriage bond, the ideal time to begin to have a family needs no special encouragement from would-be grandparents.

Each situation must be individualized for no universal rule of time can be laid down for all couples.

If I had one rule to pass on to both of you it would be the following: Under no circumstances should any young couple who are in conflict about their marriage decide to have one or more children in an effort to cement a crumbling relationship.

In far too many instances, children brought into a world of bickering and hostility merely add to the confusion and the impending disaster of the family structure. Then, with the dissolution of the marriage, it is the children to suffer the most.

Whether or not you ever have children should be entirely dependent on both of you, without external pressures from anyone.

There is great joy in conceiving and rearing a child who is totally welcome in the family community. The happiness children add is limitless when the ideal time is carefully chosen.

Dear Editor:

In regards to Service Director Atwood Jones' decision not to construct ramps because it would encourage bicycle and motorcycle riders to use the same. This is a state law for the handicapped in wheelchairs.

There is not a public office or restroom in the city of Circleville that a handicapped person in a wheelchair can get in now. I think this is unfair discrimination by the service director. I'm a handicapped person in a wheelchair and a board member of the Ohio State Wheelchair Handicapped, Dodd Hall, Ohio State University Hospital, Columbus.

We would all like your support and thank you very much. It only takes a matter of seconds to be one yourself.

Dear Editor:

The final results of the 1975-76 Cancer Crusade have been tabulated and we would like to say a warm "Thank you" to the generous people of Pickaway County. Over 600 volunteers participated in the door-to-door crusade distributing information on cancer's warning signs and special information on breast cancer.

The amount collected this year was $17,830 including the contributions from business, industry, clubs, organizations, proceeds from special events, collections from a Bike-a-thon and thoughtful memorial gifts.

Part of the money is used to support national cancer research while much of the money is used here in Pickaway County helping to provide equipment, drugs and treatment, transportation and information for local residents. Our local director, Madeline Sanders, can be contacted at 474-3353 to answer questions concerning the crusade and services available.

Thanks again to the many individuals and organizations that gave so freely. You have helped with one more step toward our goal to "Wipe Out Cancer In Our Life Time."

Dear Editor:

This letter is being written in support of "Issue Number 10 - A New Berger Hospital".

This past Sunday my wife, daughter, and I attended the "Open House" at Berger Hospital. We were very courteously and thoroughly shown through the new ancillary unit of the hospital by gracious staff members and Mr. Rideout, administrator. What we saw showed a vast improvement in Pickaway County's medical and surgical treatment facilities.

My wife and I have both been patients in Berger Hospital. We received wonderful treatment and care — one couldn't ask for better.

Pickaway County's public and private citizens have been notoriously conservative ("tight" might be a better word) in spending money for Berger Hospital. If our hospital is still lacking some things which our neighboring counties accept readily, it is not ignorance, indolence, or reluctance to assert a need which is at fault — it is just plain lack of money to purchase much-needed modern equipment and to pay better salaries to staff members. Many needed machines and items have been purchased by the Hospital Guilds. They have done much in improvement.

I don't like additional taxes any more than others do, but this hospital improvement is necessary for the continued progress and well-being of every Pickaway County resident — and the cost is minimal. Each of us needs the best of health care possible at some time during our lives; and our doctors, nurses, technicians, and auxiliary staff are giving us their best.

We are on the right road to vastly improved medical and surgical care with our new EEG, EKG, X-Ray, Intensive Care, Inhalation Recovery and Therapy, Medical Laboratory, Operating Rooms, and Emergency Area facilities and staff. Vast improvements have also been made in waiting rooms, dressing rooms, recovery rooms, and rest room facilities for patients and out-patients.

We need this new proposed main building of a new Berger Hospital. It will improve bed capacity, Dietary, Physical Therapy, administrative offices — it will include wider corridors and doors, better patient-care rooms, better public waiting rooms, and improved rest room and bathing-shower facilities.

Let's put this issue over the top with a resounding "YES" vote on Nov. 2.

Sincerely,
TRUMAN N. EBERLY

Owens-Illinois Reports Record Sales, Earnings

Owens-Illinois, Inc., had record sales and earnings before extraordinary gains in the first nine months of 1976, Edwin D. Dodd, chairman and chief executive officer, reported.

While third-quarter earnings from operations were ahead of those of a year ago, total net earnings and earnings per share for the period were below those in the quarter last year due to several unusual items. These include the net unfavorable effects of exchange rate fluctuations, the nonrecurrence of last year's gain on the sale of mineral rights, and the dilution resulting from issuance of additional equity shares in March this year.

Despite these items, dollar earnings for the quarter were the second highest for any third quarter in the history of the company, Dodd said.

Sales for the first nine months of 1976 amounted to $1.94 billion, an increase of 16 per cent from sales of almost $1.67 billion in the nine-month period last year. Net income before extraordinary gains was $83.5 million, an increase of 29 per cent from earnings of $64.8 million in the first three quarters last year and 24 per cent ahead of the previous record high in the first nine months of 1974.

Earnings per share before extraordinary gains totaled $5.36, compared with $4.46 in the nine-month period last year. The figures are not directly comparable, since Owens-Illinois sold 1.4 million shares of common stock in March this year. This had the effect of reducing per-share earnings for the first nine months of 1976 by about 31 cents a share.

Extraordinary gains of $8.2 million, or about 55 cents a share, resulted from sales of the company's holding of Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corporation common stock in the first six months this year, bringing net earnings for nine months to $91.7 million, or $5.91 per common share.

Third-quarter sales were $668.2 million, a record for any quarter, Dodd reported. This compared with sales of $600.2 million in the quarter last year. Net earnings were $28 million, compared with the third-quarter record of $31.5 million a year ago. Earnings per share amounted to $1.75 in the quarter, against a record of $2.19 per share in the quarter last year. Mr. Dodd noted that per-share earnings in the quarter this year were reduced by about 14 cents by the dilutive effect of the greater number of common shares outstanding.

In addition, third-quarter results last year included a gain of 17 cents per share on the sale of mineral rights on land owned and leased in Florida.

In translating accounts of foreign subsidiaries into dollars, exchange gains resulted in the third quarter of 1975 and exchange losses were incurred in the third quarter this year. The comparative impact on earnings of the company's International Operations between the third quarters was about $6.6 million. This total impact, however, was offset in part by the effects of these rate changes on minority shareholders' interests and by continuing effects of changing exchange rates.

The pause in the nation's economic recovery affected the company's domestic glass container and forest products operations during the third quarter, Dodd said.

Glass container prices were increased selectively up to five per cent by the company on October 1 in an effort to help recover significant increases in the cost of labor, raw materials, and energy.

The Forest Products Division's Orange, Texas, containerboard mill was struck August 13 and, to date, no settlement has been reached. Short strikes at corrugated shipping container plants at Bristol, Pa., and Milan, Mich., also detracted from that division's results.

In the packaging area, the Plastic Products and Closure & Metal Container Divisions continued to perform at record levels.

In the consumer and technical area, Television Products and Kimble Divisions had significant third-quarter and nine-month sales and earnings improvement over a year ago. Mr. Dodd said year-to-date earnings of all domestic divisions continued ahead of a year ago.

Due to strong third-quarter performance, year-to-date earnings from operations for International approximated those of a year ago. Overall results for International were lower, however, as a result of the substantial unfavorable currency fluctuations. Mr. Dodd said that the outcome of negotiations remains uncertain in connection with the Venezuelan government's purchase of O-I Venezuela, C.A.

The basic cost advantage of the glass container over competitive packaging materials continues to increase, and longer-term outlook for the containerboard market appears to be good, he said. A new glass container plant at Volney, N. Y., and a new paper machine at Orange, Texas, will come on-stream about mid-1977. During the quarter, ground was broken for expansion to include a new paper machine at Tomahawk, Wis. These expansions will significantly increase the company's future ability to supply important packaging materials at a time demand is expected to be strong.

Dodd said "the company's earnings per share have grown at an annual rate of more than 13 per cent since 1971, and we are confident that earnings in 1976 will be a record for the fourth consecutive year."

Owens-Illinois, the 88th largest industrial company in the U.S., is a broadly diversified manufacturer of glass, paper, plastic, and metal packaging products. In addition, an important part of O-I business consists of specialized products such as television bulbs; Kimble pharmaceutical, scientific, laboratory, and health care products; Libbey Glass tumblers and stemware for household and institutional use; and Lily paper and plastic food and beverage service.

Dear Abby:

He's Too Slick With His Chick

DEAR ABBY: I hope you print this so a certain guy will see it and realize a few things.

I have this buddy who's going steady with this super chick. But he treats her like dirt. He's been going out on her with his ex-girlfriend, for example.

I think a lot of this chick and would love to take her out myself but not while she's going with my buddy. Abby, if he loves her as much as he says, why doesn't he spend more time with her? (She really loves the guy and is being hurt by all this.)

Sooner or later, someone else is going to come along and she's going to leave. It'll be too late for him and me both. What can I do to help out?

an excuse and leave early.

7. Don't bring small children.

8. Don't smoke.

9. Don't make promises you can't keep.

10. Don't stay and expect to be served a meal.

HELPFUL

DEAR HELPFUL: Your commandments are indeed helpful to patients recuperating at home. The biggest favor you can do hospital patients is to send them cards. They need rest-not company.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif 90069. Enclose stamped, self addressed envelope, please.

DEAR CONCERNED: Tell your buddy what's happening. Lay it on the line. If he doesn't get the message, it will be open season on chicks, buddy or no buddy.

DEAR ABBY: You recently nixed the idea of a college son bringing home a girl he's living with on campus, and sharing a bedroom with her under the parental roof. You said the girl would be a guest and should live by the rules for such.

Parents who would impose such conditions are kidding no one but themselves. My middle-and upper-middle-class friends who are parents would disagree with you on the bedroom issue. Pursue that policy, and the grown kids won't come home at all!

I know of some parents who "disowned" adult children who live with lovers. The parents wound up alone and bitter, eating their hearts out over their estranged children.

In their hearts, parents would prefer the company of their children-lovers and all-to cold, righteous loneliness.

MOST PEOPLE

DEAR MOST: Sorry, but I don't think parents should be asked to turn themselves inside out culturally or morally to accept the lifestyles of their children. Each generation should give a little in bridging the old and the new ideas and values.

DEAR ABBY: You and I see eye to eye when it comes to visiting the sick. I've put these thoughts into ten commandments which might be helpful to your readers:

1. Always call first.
2. Never come early. And if you're going to be late, call and ask if it's convenient to come later.
3. Keep your conversation cheerful. Never bring bad news or talk about sickness and death.

Federal Agencies Set Open Meetings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dozens of federal commissions and boards are preparing to hold meetings that will open their operations to public view for the first time.

The federal panels are required to begin holding open meetings by next March under the new "Government in the Sunshine" act, which is aimed at opening the business of at least some public agencies to the public.

The new law affects only the 50-odd federal regulatory agencies. It does not apply to executive branch agencies like the White House or to the Congress, which enacted it.

Only the Federal Power Commission and the Consumer Product Safety Commission among major federal regulatory agencies now hold meetings open to the public. But even these two agencies have some adjustments to make to comply with the law.

The Consumer Product Safety Commission, for example, now conducts its votes in secret but will not be allowed to vote privately on most matters in the future.

Spokesmen for several agencies contacted by The Associated Press said study groups have been appointed to consider how to convert to the "sunshine" policy mandated by Congress.

"There are many mechanics to be worked out," said Henry Patrick, a spokesman for the Federal Communications Commission. "For example, we have a room that holds about 100 people. We'll have to decide if we have to expand the room."

He said the FCC is "nowhere near ready" to implement the new law. However, several other agencies said they plan to comply with the new requirements before the March deadline.

"Our intention is to comply by about early February," said Andy Rothman, a spokesman for the Securities and Exchange Commission. The SEC also has a task force studying how to put the new law into effect.

Rothman said one problem is that "Congress neglected to give us any funds with which to implement the law."

Miss Karen Jean Fry Weds Steven Imhoff

MRS. STEVEN ROBERT IMHOFF

St. Joseph Catholic Church of Sylvania was the setting for the wedding of Miss Karen Jean Fry, 6118 Alexa Lane, Sylvania, and Mr. Steven Robert Imhoff, 355 Clark Drive, Circleville.

The Rev. James E. Brown performed the double ring service for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Fry, 6118 Alexa Lane, Sylvania, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Imhoff, 3309 Hazelton Drive, Oregon, 1 p.m., September 25.

The altar was decorated with vases holding arrangements of orange gladioli and yellow pom mums. Yellow bows marked the pews.

Mr. Donald Clawson, organist, and Mr. Ken Gembolis, soloist, presented a program of music preceding the ceremony. Mr. Gembolis sang "Annie's Song," "Wedding Song" and "O, Perfect Love."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. For her wedding she selected a princess style gown of silk over taffeta with long sheer sleeves and high neckline trimmed with venice lace and appliques. The sheer bodice, also trimmed with lace and appliques, was lavished with seed pearls. The front of the gown was trimmed with rows of venice lace plunging from the bodice to the floor with lace appliques scattered over the skirt. The back of the gown was enhanced with a large silk bow at the waistline and the flared skirt flowed into a chapel length train, edged with venice lace. The bride's chapel length veil of illusion was edged with matching lace. She carried her mother's wedding prayer book decorated with a crescent cascade of orchids, yellow statice and ivy.

Miss Susan Fry was maid of honor for her sister. Bridesmaids were Miss Laura Imhoff and Miss Susan Imhoff, sisters of the bridegroom, and Miss Sherri Wright, Perrysburg. The attendants were dressed alike in yellow and burnt orange flowered floor length jacket dresses of chiffon, and yellow picture hats. They carried nosegays of orange fuji mums with yellow statice and wheat.

Junior bridesmaid was Miss Julie Fry, sister of the bride. Her gown was identical to those of the attendants and she wore a circle of baby's breath in her hair. She carried a basket of orange mums and wheat.

Mr. Peter Imhoff performed the duties of best man for his brother. Ushers were Mr. Paul Crosby, Defiance; Mr. Tony Thomas, Maumee, and Mr. David Fry, brother of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a pale yellow princess style gown trimmed with yellow seed pearls. Her wrist corsage was of green cymbidium orchids.

The bridegroom's mother chose an apricot gown and jacket with a jeweled bodice. She wore a shoulder corsage of white phalaenopsis orchids.

A reception at Sylvania Country Club of Sylvania, followed the ceremony. A four tiered wedding cake centered the table where punch, hors d'oeuvres and canapes were served. A five piece band provided music for dancing. Miss Patricia Claus of Sylvania attended the guest book.

For a wedding trip to Hilton Head Island, South Carolina, the bride wore a pant suit with a blue-gray bowed blouse and white slacks with coordinating sweater. She wore a diamond heart pendant, a gift of the bridegroom. The couple now resides at 355 Clark Drive, Circleville.

The bride attended the University of Santa Clara, Calif. and the University of Toledo where she majored in journalism. She is a member of Alpha Omicron Pi Sorority and Daughters of Helena, women's service organization of Triangle Fraternity.

The bridegroom is a 1974 graduate of the University of Toledo in industrial engineering. He is affiliated with Tau Beta Pi and Alpha Pi Mu engineering honoraries and Triangle Fraternity. He is currently employed as an engineer with Circleville General Electric Lamp Plant.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from Charleston, W. Va.; Erie and Pittsburgh, Pa.; West Bend, Wis.; Bloomington, Ind.; Chicago, Ill.; Cleveland, Cincinnati, Norwalk, Rawson, Clyde and Ashtabula, Ohio.

Secret Parts
Theft Brings
Navy Arrest

VIRGINIA BEACH (AP) — A 19-year-old sailor has been charged with theft in connection with the disappearance of five F14 tomcat jet components valued at $400,000 from Oceana Naval Air Station.

A spokesman said Airman Timothy M. Rice of Worcester, Mass. was being held on the charge today by Navy authorities.

Rice was assigned to the unit from which the parts disappeared earlier this month.

"It is anticipated that no further information will be released pending completion of additional legal procedures," a spokesman for the Atlantic Fleet Naval Air Force said Tuesday.

Still undisclosed is how the five pieces of equipment were removed from Oceana undetected and why they were removed.

Parts of four of the five components were found five days after they were discovered missing. They were found in a small lake about three miles from Oceana.

The fifth component is still missing. Navy personnel reportedly were searching a garbage dump in Tidewater in an apparent attempt to find the missing component.

The recovered equipment reportedly was part of the jet's complex system which guides half a dozen missiles simultaneously to widely separated targets.

Tax Form
Delays Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Changes in the federal income tax code will delay the mailing of the basic tax forms used by most citizens this year.

The forms will come two weeks later than usual this year, in January instead of December, the Internal Revenue Service said Wednesday.

Traditionally, the IRS mails out Form 1040 and 1040A tax packages at Christmas time. The 1040 is the long form used by people who itemize deductions and have other special deductions for income. The 1040A package is the short form used by people who take the standard deduction and have a relatively simple tax return.

But the IRS said the package won't be ready until early January this year, due to the changes in the tax code contained in the bill signed recently by President Ford.

IRS Commissioner Donald C. Alexander said to look for the form 1040 packages between Jan. 1 and Jan. 11. The short form package should be delivered by Jan. 7, Alexander said.

Prices Rise
On Coffee

NEW YORK (AP) — Coffee prices are going up again, but consumers may not feel the full impact of the increases right away.

For the second time in four months, General Foods Co. announced on Tuesday a 5.5 to 6.4 per cent wholesale price increase on 75 of its most popular brands.

Earlier this month, Nestle Co. boosted wholesale prices on instant coffee by 7 to 14 per cent. Sharp rises in green coffee prices is the reason cited for the hikes.

General Foods said it raised prices on Maxwell House and Yuban ground coffee and on Sanka and Brim ground decaffeinated coffee by 15 cents a pound. The price of a can of Max-Pax ground coffee filter rings will rise 15 cents a can.

A spokesman for the company said the consumers should feel the increase in about a month.

Autopsy Slated
In Drowning Case

OREGO, Ohio (AP) — An autopsy was being performed Tuesday on the body of a Tennessee man who drowned Monday night after falling off the C&O coal dock here, police said.

James Tate, 49, of Whitwell, Tenn., a wheelman aboard the "McKeeson," was in the ship, and apparently started climbing down a ladder to the pier to free a cable, witnesses told police.

Other crewmen said they heard a scream and found a pair of gloves floating in the water. The body was recovered 90 minutes later.

Nation's Voters Face Many Local Issues

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The spotlight in the 1976 election is on the presidential race, but voters in November also will be deciding close-to-home questions involving everything from nuclear safety to state-regulated slot machines.

Some of the proposals are in the form of constitutional amendments offered by state legislatures. Others have been placed on the ballot as a result of voter initiatives and petition drives.

An Associated Press spot check showed that the nuclear safety issue has generated the most interest, followed by proposals to ban or restrict nonreturnable beverage containers.

California residents voted against a proposal on the June primary ballot to limit development of nuclear power plants and impose restrictions on the operation of those already in existence.

Similar measures now are on the ballot in a number of states, including Oregon, Montana, Ohio, Washington and Arizona.

There are about 60 atomic power plants already in operation and another 40 plants are expected in operation by 1980. Critics of nuclear power say that safety controls are not strict enough.

The proposals under consideration would:

- Set specific safety standards for builders.
- Provide for safe storage, transportation and disposal of nuclear wastes.
- Require legislative approval of all new plants.
- Urge Congress to suspend the limit on liability insurance in case of nuclear accidents.

The outcome of the vote is expected to be close in most states and both sides have been fighting hard. Opponents of the measure in the State of Washington have a fund of more than $340,000, but a poll published by the Seattle Times in August showed 44.1 per cent of those surveyed were for the measure, 23.9 per cent were against and 32 per cent were undecided.

Here is a look at some other issues under consideration around the country:

RETURNABLE BOTTLES AND CANS

Massachusetts, Maine and Michigan are among the states trying to limit the use of nonreturnable containers. Under the Maine proposal, which is typical, all beer, ale and soft drink containers sold in the state after Jan. 1, 1978 would have to have at least a five-cent deposit. Cans with flip-top openers would be banned, as would plastic rings used to hold the cans or bottles together in a six-pack.

UTILITIES

Voters in some states will decide on measures that could affect electric and gas bills. In Massachusetts, a proposal would require the same per-kilowatt charge for all customers in contrast to the current practice of lower rates for big users. The governor and the state Department of Public Utilities contend that the measure would hurt industry. Ohioans for Utility Reform — OUR is pushing a measure requiring utilities to offer lowest "lifeline" rates, with a minimum charge for a minimum amount of power. A measure on the ballot in Missouri would prevent utilities from including construction work in progress as one of the ongoing costs in figuring rate increases. Supporters of the measure say it's not the job of a utility customer to finance long-range construction projects.

GAMBLING

Legalized gambling of one form or another is under consideration in several states. The biggest fight has been in New Jersey where there is a proposal to okay casino gambling in Atlantic City. Two years ago, a plan for casino gambling throughout the state was rejected by a 3-2 margin. The Eagleton Institute of Politics of Rutgers University said a late-September poll showed 59 per cent of those questioned favored the proposal, 36 were against and the rest were undecided. In Delaware, the issue is whether the voters favor state-regulated slot machines. In California, the controversy is over greyhound racing. And in Oregon, a proposal on the ballot would allow charitable, fraternal and religious organizations to run bingo games.

SPENDING—MONEY

Two measures on the Michigan ballot specifically deal with money. One would limit state spending to 8.3 per cent of total personal income in the state; the other would remove the state's constitutional prohibition on a graduated income tax. Massachusetts voters also will decide whether to permit a graduated income tax — an idea that has been turned down three times in recent years. In Missouri, there are proposals to increase the state's sales tax by an eighth of a cent, but remove it from food and prescription drugs. North Dakota voters are faced with a plan to reduce the sales tax from 4 to 3 per cent. The drive is led by a businessman critical of the state's $180 million general fund surplus.

GOVERNMENT REORGANIZATION

Jimmy Carter has made his reorganization of the Georgia government a key issue in the presidential campaign. Another kind of reorganization — involving the state constitution — is on the November ballot. A key proposal would rearrange the constitution to put similar subjects under the same articles. Officials say it would be the first step toward an article-by-article constitutional revision in the future. Another measure on the Georgia ballot would allow a governor to succeed himself for a second four-year term. In Montana, residents of 156 counties, cities and towns will vote on proposals for new forms of local government. The new ideas generally would increase power at the local level.

STATE CAPITAL

The biggest issue on the Alaska ballot is where to put the state capital. Alaskans voted in 1974 to move it from Juneau and created a commission to propose three alternative sites. The choices: Willow, about 70 miles north of Anchorage and the cheapest of the three to develop; Mount Yenlo, a wilderness area 100 miles north of Anchorage and the second cheapest to develop; and Larson Lake, 120 miles north of Anchorage and the most expensive in development costs.

MISCELLANEOUS

Oklahoma residents have another chance to vote on legalizing the sale of liquor by the drink; an Equal Rights Amendment to the state constitution and a ban on the ownership of most handguns are on the ballot in Massachusetts; and a Florida measure would strengthen the state's financial disclosure law for public officials.

Shelter For Beaten Wives

FAIRFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Early this year, Lois Hake Woman divorced her husband, changed her name and opened her home to other women who had lived in fear of their husbands' anger as she did for 29 years.

Her residence, which she kept in the divorce settlement, is an ordinary four-bedroom ranch. In February, it became the Butler County Woman's Crisis Center, opening its doors 24 hours a day to offer protection from wife beaters.

Sofar, 20 women have been housed there, one returning as many as four times, for three to five days.

"Most of them return home after that," Miss Woman said. Experience has taught her why.

"In 29 years of marriage, I can't tell you how many nights I spent locked in the car or sitting in an all-night diner to be safe from my husband," Miss Woman said.

"But I stayed married," she writes in a 40-page pamphlet entitled "Diary of a Battered Housewife."

"Being beaten is such a shameful experience you don't want to tell anyone, because you're afraid of the kind of justice which often sets such men free within five minutes; because even if your husband earns $20,000 a year, you may have no alternatives financially; because of a son—we're so conditioned to think a child needs a father; and for religious reasons."

Gearing herself for divorce at age 49 and with no recognizable marketable skills, she did telephone solicitation to maintain the home.

Since she has opened the shelter, which houses 12 women, and written her diary, Miss Woman lectures throughout the state.

She said she is looking for funds and working with agencies in the Cincinnati area "so the center can offer total resources—housing for women and children as long as needed, peer counseling, paralegal and medical services, and job training and counseling."

The cooperative shelter is staffed with two volunteers who answer crises calls. Present services include nightly talk sessions for abused residents and the offer to accompany the victims to file assault charges, to the welfare department and to attorneys.

"The trouble with going to an attorney is that in our town you need $100 just to go for advice," she said. "And many women aren't eligible for Legal Aid because their husbands earn too much money."

Miss Woman said statistics show "three times as many women are abused as are raped." She quoted a recent poll which said 20 per cent of Americans think wife beating is acceptable under certain conditions.

She said her name is an effort to break the chain of subservience.

"After my divorce, I took back my maiden name. Then, I realized that no woman has her own name—before you're married you use your father's," Miss Woman said.

"So, I decided to take a name that would be solely mine...one that no man would think of using. 'Woman' is my answer."

Appeal Scheduled On Data Ruling

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Federal Home Loan Bank Board has filed a notice of appeal of U.S. District Judge Carl Rubin's ruling Sept. 27 barring the agency from providing data processing service to savings and loan associations.

Rubin ordered the service stopped as the result of a suit brought by a private data processing firm in Cincinnati.

The firm contended the federal agency was causing a hardship for private industry by providing the service. Judge Rubin said the Federal Home Loan Bank had no basis in law for providing such services.

NEW YORK (AP) — Is there a "death hormone" in the human brain that limits how long you can live? Does such a hormone regulate a kind of "clock" ticking off the potential days of your life? If so, might scientific research become able to identify it, then find ways to halt or delay its action, thus extending life span 50 to 100 or 200 years, or even longer? Just such a theory about aging is being seriously investigated. So also is supposition that the "clock" resides in the genetic material, the DNA, in the nucleus of body cells. If so, might man become able to turn off the clock, extending life? These are but two of the theories about aging, some buttressed a bit by experimental evidence, described in a new book, "Prolongevity," by Albert Rosenfeld, a science writer. Some researchers "are convinced there is an identifiable 'clock of aging,' a genetically determined program which dictates that we will age and die, and the rate at which this will occur," he says. Rosenfeld thinks that "we have an excellent chance of discovering the location (there may be more than one) of the clock of aging, as well as the nature of its operating mechanisms — and how to interfere with them to our own advantage." Moreover, "all this can begin to happen now, not centuries from now, but now, if only the research can be carried out." Rosenfeld, formerly science editor of Life and now science editor of Saturday Review, says many people have considered it a pipe dream that human lifespan can be extended. He discusses research and theories which he says "suddenly transform the pipe dream into at least a reasonable fantasy, and perhaps a reality we can plan for ... we will soon have in our hands the biological tools to bring about, in a practical manner, the long-sought elixir of life, in one form or another." "Old age will be a disease you can go see your doctor about, if, indeed, prophylactic measures do not virtually eradicate it." As to why we age, Rosenfeld examines a number of theories. Is it due to an accumulation of chemical "garbage" that cells have difficulty in getting rid of, or is it due to cross-linkage, an inadvertent coupling of any two large molecules inside or outside cells? Is either of these a result of aging rather than a cause? Is aging due to an autoimmune process, in which the body turns upon itself? Or does it result from free radicals, which are broken off pieces of molecules or molecules with an electron stripped away, that then attach to and damage other molecules? A long and baffling road to discovery lies ahead to understand and control life processes, if it indeed can ever be done, to bring the human life span any considerable leap forward, Rosenfeld says. Would people welcome a life twice the present normal span, or extended by 200 to 300 years? "Many people are downright hostile to the idea," he writes. A huge increase in life span could bring some huge problems. At what age would people retire? At 65, then live another vigorous and healthy 65 years? Would old people stay in their top jobs and keep younger ones from promotion? What would happen to Social Security, pension plans, insurance commitments? If people lived to be 200 or 300, think of the population pressure, unless births were severely limited. Rosenfeld's own opinion, is that the research should be done. Further research into aging would go hand in glove with research to control of cancer, heart disease, and degenerative diseases, with findings in some fields applicable to extending life-span. People might be motivated to care more about posterity, about maintaining clean air and water, "if we ourselves were to become posterity..." "There could arise a new breed of human being who, merely by virtue of his longevity, through the acquisition of a steadily maturing wisdom and a steadily expanding awareness, could finally become exactly the kind of gifted individual we need to help take our species into a challenging and expanded future—a being to whom we might entrust the decisions that go with controlling the mechanisms of life, a being worthy to be the trustee of our future evolution to a destiny of our own choosing."

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Jones and daughter, Lori and her mother, Mrs. James Scott, Blain Highway, were in Nashville, Tenn. last weekend to visit the Jones' younger son, Mark who is attending the Auto-Diesel College. There was a picnic for Mark on Sunday in honor of his 18th birthday. It was in Shelby Park.

The day Saturday was spent mostly at Opry Land, in the evening they saw a performance of the Grand Old Opry. They visited the DuPont plant at Old Hickory, Tenn., Sunday morning and watched the ships go through the locks at Old Hickory Dam.

Mark is looking forward to spending his four days off at Thanksgiving, here with his family.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Parker Jr. were hosts at a family dinner party last Saturday night at the Lake White Club.

Two of their daughters-in-law were celebrating birthdays. Mrs. William Parker of Stoutsville and Mrs. Robert Parker of Circleville. Other guests were William and Robert Parker, Mr. Joe Parker, Mr. and Mrs. James Parker and son Adam, Tim and Sharon Parker and Mr. Nelson Bower.

Mr. and Mrs. James Stewart were Wednesday evening dinner guests of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Randy Stewart at their home in Portsmouth.

The Junior High School Marching Band with 44 instruments, seven majorettes and 2 flag bearers is busy getting ready for its next two engagements, the Pumpkin Show on Friday, Oct. 22 at 3 p.m. and the Chillicothe Halloween Parade.

Majorettes are Gayle Streitenberger, Susan Davis and Patti Richardson, eighth grade and Sandy Climer, Tracy Birchfield, Marsha Good and Kathy Slater, seventh grade. Gina Ellenburg and Debbie Elliott are the Flag Bearers.

Zane Trace Junior High Student Council elected the following officers last week — Lisa Zucker, president, Terri Manion, Kathy Lewis, secretary and Jodi Shoemaker, treasurer.

You will be glad to know that Robert Dumm came home from the Cleveland Clinic last Tuesday, a little weary and worn from the trip, but otherwise, doing fine according to his mother, Mrs. Louise Brundige. Mrs. Brundige will return to her home in Miami, Fla., where she has the care of her three brothers, Kenneth, Vernon and Loren. When asked about their health, the reply was, "not too good, especially, Loren." Mrs. Brundige leaves on Tuesday.

The 19th Senior Citizens who met at the Center for a carry-in dinner, last Wednesday had a most enjoyable time when the business session and talks by Donald Ramsey from United Way and Mrs. Olle Bildsten spoke on needs for a Mental Health Center with the capacity to care for more people, in Ross County. She mentioned that a psychiatrist must either be called from Columbus or the patient sent to Portsmouth and the Portsmouth Hospital is going to stop taking out of county patients. She wants lots of votes on this issue at the November second election.

The good times began when Mrs. Mary Bond at the piano was joined by Mr. Dorah Morris and his drums. The group sang along as they played all the old songs of their early days. There will be another carry-in dinner on the first Wednesday in November.

Mrs. Florence Davis and her daughter, Mrs. Evelyn Stephenson were Sunday dinner guests of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. John Davis.

Eight members of the Senior Citizens spent a day at Bob Evan's Farm Festival at Rio Grande. They were Mrs. Margaret Ross, Mrs. Pauline Streitenberger, Mrs. Mary Miller, Mrs. Lucille Moore, Mr. Virgil Stonerock, the Rev. Pearl Casto, Mrs. Helen Fouche, and Mrs. Margery Dearth.

Mr. Morris Buchwalter was admitted to the Medical Center Saturday night, a victim of pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kerns and son of Dayton were weekend guests of their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. James Stewart. Additional guests on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Randy Kerns of Portsmouth.

An old fashioned 'Cottage' Prayer Meeting was held last Tuesday night in the home of Mr. R. G. Strausbaugh at 34 North Elm St. with the Reverend Arnold Riehle in charge. Songs by the entire company were, "When We All Get To Heaven," "Amazing Grace," "The Old Rugged Cross" and "It is No Secret." Don and Frances Sparks played, "The Glory-Land March."

Special music was by Mrs. Paul C. Davis at the piano, the Rev. Riehle on the French Harp, Mr. Don Sparks played the electric guitar and his wife, Frances, the Auto-Harp. Testimonies and scripture from The Acts, Chapter 12 by Reverend Riehle and prayer by the Rev. Carl Swanger was followed by refreshments.

Those present were the Rev. and Mrs. Carl Swanger, Mr. and Mrs. Don Sparks, Mr. and Mrs. Don Houser, Donnie and Mark, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Kempton, Mrs. Dorothy M. Strausbaugh, Crista and Larry Phillip and Arnold Riehle.

The 'Cottage Prayer Meeting' is of great value to Mr. Strausbaugh. On Alternate Tuesday evenings the group from the Jefferson Ave. Church of Christ in Christian Union hold prayer meeting in two East end nursing homes in Chillicothe.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Alexander (Jackie Donahue) of Large, Florida arrived Sunday to spend a few days with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Betz and other relatives in Kingston. They plan to leave here on Wednesday.

After visiting relatives in Kentucky, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Crabtree of Vallejo, Cal. plan to come back to the home of his sister, Mrs. Willard Carter and her husband before going home. On the way they will stop off in Detroit to pick up their new car.

Mr. and Mrs. Simon (Pete) Buchwalter of Chesterton, Ind. are visiting his brothers, Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Don Buchwalter and his sister, Mrs. Eva Hartranft of Columbus and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Turner and son Matthew of New York arrived last Friday and stayed a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dean. During this time all the family came in to help Mrs. Dean celebrate her birthday.

The Civic Club met at the home of Mrs. Donald Jones and completed plans for taking its booth to Circleville next Sunday and getting it set up and ready when the Pumpkin Show opens next Wednesday. Their specialty is "French Fried Pies" and from experience, they are good. They also made a generous donation to the youngsters 'trick or treat night' treats that will be dispensed this year at the Firehouse instead of from door to door. They also endorse the Mental Health proposal on the ballot.

Mrs. Laura Schneider, Mrs. Lawrence Betz, Mrs. Don Buchwalter, Mrs. Leona Gibson and Mrs. Norval Phillips spent the day Thursday with Max Gibson in Gallipolis.

Circleville Choir Will Perform At Pumpkin Show

The Circleville High School Choir and Ensemble will be performing at Pumpkin Show on Oct. 23. It will be a 45 minute concert beginning at 11:15 a.m. on the West Main Street Platform.

The 42 member choir under the direction of Miss Deborah Fannin will be singing the following numbers: "I Write The Songs" recorded by Barry Manilow and arranged by Harry Simeone, "Deep Peace" by Maxine Posegate, "Just A Closer Walk With Thee" arranged by Ed Lojeski, "Send In The Clowns" by Stephen Sondheim, and "I Honestly Love You" recorded by Olivia Newton-John and arranged by Deborah Fannin.

The 12 member ensemble will be singing "I Won't Last A Day Without You" recorded by the Carpenters and arranged by Ed Lojeski, "Silent The Forests" by Eugene Butler, and "The Way We Were" by Marvin Hamlisch and arranged by Chuck Cassey.

This will be the choir's first performance of the year and everyone is invited to attend.

See 61 Per Cent Vote Turnout

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Some 61 per cent of Ohio's eligible voters will go to the polls for the Nov. 2 presidential election, Secretary of State Ted Brown predicted Tuesday.

The record high equals 4.2 million of the 6.9 million eligible voters, Brown said. He said Montgomery and Franklin counties were the only metropolitan counties to show an increase in voter registration from 1972, but many suburban and rural counties have reported increases from their 1972 figures.

On Nov. 1, 1835, Texas proclaimed its independence of Mexico and formed a provisional government with Stephen Austin and Sam Houston as its leaders.

Gold was discovered on Cherokee Indian land in 1835 and the Indians were forced to cede the land for $5 million.

League Races Tighten For County Teams

By CRAIG ALLISON
Herald Sports Writer

County Football reaches the top of the stretch this Friday night, and none of the three county schools have shown any signs of losing steam yet.

The Teays Valley Vikings got a breath of new wind after last Friday's win over Olentangy. Logan Elm is still a contender in the Mid-State League, but they acknowledged that they've their work cut out for them, and Westfall's Mustangs stay right in the thick of the Scioto Valley Conference, with that race heating up a little more every week.

On the Vikes win last week, Coach Dick Kidwell said, "We finally played mistake free ball. We controlled the ball game and now we know what we can do."

The Teays Valley mentor singled out Lance Reese, Ron Little, and Joe Berger for their outstanding offensive performances. Also contributing a great deal carrying the pigskin were John Sanders, a freshman, and Craig Ramey. On defense, it was again Reese and Little who came under the praise of the Vikings staff.

This week the Norsemen travel to Franklin Heights for an 8 p.m. date with the Falcons, who are enjoying one of their better seasons in several years.

"They're a pretty physical ball club," said Kidwell, "they're very tall on defense, and they're led by Mike Saxton, an outstanding defensive end. On offense their big gun is their tailback, Marc Orndorff."

Kidwell still considers the Vikings a contender in the Metro picture. He is confident that Marysville will get beaten, and West Jefferson has been beaten once. Teays Valley still has to face both these teams, so don't count the Vikes out of anything yet.

The offense that lines up against the Falcon's defense will consist of Lance Windon and Rick Queen at the ends, Joe Berger and Ray Nardi will be the tackles, and Lance Reese and Ron Little will hold down the guard posts. Dan Schooley will operate at center.

The quarterback will be Gregg Cline, with the fullback Craig Ramey. John Sanders will make an encore appearance at tailback, and Eugene Fields and Ian McIlvaine will split the slotback's chores.

On defense, it will be Greg Moody and Berger at the ends, Little, Kelly Kennedy, and Randy Hay at tackles, and Reese will anchor the line at middleguard. Linebackers will be Jim Henderly and Schooley, the corners will be Mike Fisher and Jack Timmons, and the safeties are Windon and Duane Keller.

While the Mustangs of Coach John Glanton are unbeaten in SVC action, they know that the next three weeks will be their toughest test. After Friday's 8 p.m. start down at Piketon, they will face Unioto and Adena in the next two weeks. But like any team that's a contender, Westfall will take them one at a time. And the line starts with Piketon.

"They're a good ball club. They've got four real good backs, and an outstanding line. They run from multiple T and I formations, and they've got a very physical 4-4 defense. We're studying a couple of defensive adjustments, but that is about the only thing we're going to do that's different." So spoke Coach Glanton about his team's preparations for the Red Streaks. To make things a little more interesting, Piketon is also 3-0 on the SVC slate.

Scoring for the Mustangs will be Eric Schleich and Brett Hastings or Dale Ruoff at the ends. The tackles will be Mike Weidinger and Terry Williams, with Mike Moore and Dennis Finch being tabbed for the starting guards. Putting the ball in play will be Carl Strittmatter.

Directing the offense will be Rick Stillings at quarterback, and Greg Damron and Mike Exline will be sharing the fullback duties. Darren Metzger and Randy Adams will handle the slotback spot, and Tony Simon will again be the fullback.

Coming to the rescue on defense will be Moore and Weidinger at the ends, and Exline, Williams, or Earl Curry at the tackles. The middleguard will be Finch. Schleich and Roberts will get the nod at linebackers, Hastings and H.L. Gibson will be at the corners, and the safety will be Metzger.

Logan Elm's Braves travel to Franklin County to take on MSL rival Canal Winchester, with the action starting at 8 p.m.

The Braves' coaching staff feels that no one team has the league crown sewed up, and when you approach a situation with that type of attitude, very often things start to happen. The Braves will be trying to play the spoiler, as this Friday marks the 1976 Homecoming for Canal's Indians.

Injury-wise, the Braves are pretty sound. Tim Justus still might be a question mark with his injured shoulder, but the coaches will know more after they've seen the speedster halfback in contact drills this week. Rock Huggins suffered a slight concussion in last Friday's game, but has been taking it easy this week, and he will be suited up Friday night.

For the Braves offense, it will be Huggins, Bruce Hannigan, or Mark Martin at the ends, with Rick McCain and Steve Bowling at the tackles. The guards will be Lynn Strehle and Gary Weaver, with Terry Waddington anchoring the line at center.

Tony Crist will be the quarterback, with Jerry Scanlan moving out of the fullback post. Justus is to be the left halfback, and Dave Calton will be the right halfback.

Stopping the score will be Huggins and Rick Hoffman at the ends, Weaver and McCain at the tackles, and Cliff Hoover and Larry Smith at the guards. Linebackers will be Scanlan and Jim McGuire, the cornerbacks will be Tim Davis and Brian Hannigan, and Calton will be the safety.

Vikings at Franklin Heights, Mustangs at Piketon, or Braves at Canal Winchester. All three teams are in hot league races, and the games are all getting down to a precious few. Pick your game and be sure to attend, because it's going to be very interesting right down to the wire.

College Grid Picker Sees Oklahoma Win

NEW YORK (AP) — Quickie Quiz: Who's the only team to beat Oklahoma in the last four years?

Son of Quickie Quiz: Who does Oklahoma play Saturday?

Answer to both: Kansas.

So it's out of the Texas frying pan and into the Kansas fire and the Sooners face a virtual must-win situation or run the risk of seeing their hopes of becoming the first team ever to win three consecutive national college football championships go down the drain.

Kansas may have been looking ahead last weekend when the previously unbeaten Jayhawks stumbled against Oklahoma State. Oklahoma, which should have been looking ahead to a little revenge, was not because the Sooners never look past Texas.

"Kansas has a better Wishbone offense than Texas because of the speed and running ability of the quarterback (Nolan Cromwell) and Laverne Smith," said Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer. They talk about Johnny "I am" Jones' speed in Texas. Well, Laverne Smith was the Big Eight 100 meter dash champion this past spring with 10.1. He scored two touchdowns on us last year. He's complemented at the other halfback by a guy with 4.4 or 4.5 speed in Bill Campfield."

Sounds like trouble for ... Oklahoma 17-14.

Last week's score was 46 right — including Ole Miss' 21-17 upset of Georgia on the nose — 19 wrong and three ties for a .708 percentage. For the season, it's 238-96-8—713.

Miami, Fla. at Pitt: The Panthers are in trouble. No. 1 quarterback Robert Haygood went down for the season in the second game. Backup Matt Cavanaugh suffered a hairline ankle fracture last weekend and is out for a month or so. That leaves the job in the hands of Tom Yewcic, a non-scholarship senior ... P-P-Pitt 20-16.

Michigan at Northwestern: There were some things Bo Schembechler didn't like about the Wolverines' 42-10 rout of Michigan State. Bet they don't do those things against winless Northwestern ... Michigan 49-6.

Washington State at UCLA: "I think every game from here on out is going to be a dogfight," says Terry Donahue, coach of fourth-ranked UCLA. Washington State gave Southern Cal all it could handle last weekend and could catch the Bruins on a downer between Stanford and California, but ... UCLA 34-14.

Wake Forest at Maryland: The feeling persists that this is going to be closer than it should be ... Maryland 20-17.

Iowa State at Missouri: If you've $2 million to spare, give it to Iowa State and they'll name their stadium after you. Just thought you'd like to know ... Missouri 28-20.

Ohio State at Wisconsin: The Badgers have scored at least 16 points against everyone — and 27 against Michigan. They're also out for revenge after last year's 56-0 mauling by the Bucks. Flushed with last week's Ole Miss-Georgia success, let's pass on this as a possible Upset Special ... Ohio State 30-13.

Texas Tech at Rice: This marks the first time all season the Red Raiders have played on two successive Saturdays. Flushed with last week's Ole Miss-Georgia success, let's try this as the Upset Special of the Week ... Rice 27-21.

Vanderbilt at Georgia: Georgia's hopping mad after that loss to Ole Miss and Vandy ain't so dandy ... Georgia 35-17.

Florida at Florida State: This is a logical Upset Special since Florida catches the non-conference Seminoles between SEC foes LSU and Tennessee ... Florida 33-12.

Oregon at Notre Dame: Come Saturday evening, the Oregon Ducks might wish they had ducked this one ... Notre Dame 31-10.

Louisiana State at Kentucky: It's always emotional when LSU's Cholly Mac faces his alma mater ... LSU 22-19.

Mississippi at South Carolina: Ole Miss is looking back to Georgia, but Carolina's looking ahead to Notre Dame ... Mississippi 14-10.

Houston at Southern Methodist: Mustangs won last year, but it wasn't a conference game then ... Houston 28-14.

Alabama at Tennessee: Bear Bryant says there isn't a team on 'Bama's schedule it can beat. This corner doubts that ... Alabama 24-14.

Harvard at Dartmouth: Both teams got caught looking ahead to each other and lost last week, making this a battle of once-beatens instead of unbeaten ... Harvard 21-14.

Circleville Sets Booster Meeting

The Circleville Athletic Club will meet 8 p.m. tonight in the high school cafeteria.

Head football coach and athletic director Larry Cook will show films of the Greenfield game and discuss Friday's homecoming game with Wilmington.

Cross Country coach Jim Diltz will give a run down on the Tiger harriers and seventh and eighth grade head grid coach John Edgar will cover their football program.

Members are requested to turn in their tickets for the drawing for the Bengals weekend. The drawing will be held at halftime of the Wilmington game.

Boosters are urged to turn in their Pumpkin Show slips. Final plans for the Pumpkin Show booth will be discussed and help is still needed.

The public is invited to attend and refreshments will be served.

Reds Take Pennant; Await Series Foe

Cincinnati's 7-6 win over Philadelphia Tuesday, a victory that gave the Reds a sweep of the three-game National League Championship Series and earned them the right to go after their second straight Major League crown, was not too different from the 104 wins that preceded it.

"We were ruthless," said Ken Griffey, who knocked in the winning run with an infield hit in the ninth inning.

And Griffey, sputtering under a deluge of champagne in the Reds' lockerroom, was absolutely correct.

Cincinnati won the game, League Championship series, and regular season with speed and power, skills that bobbed to the surface after pitching and defense continued to flounder.

Yankees Come Back, Top Royals

NEW YORK (AP) — This is the tale of two third basemen.

George Brett plays the position for the Kansas City Royals. When he made two errors in the first game of the American League playoff series against the New York Yankees, he had a straight-forward answer.

"I never said I was good fielder," he said. "I'm a good hitter."

That can be confirmed by his .333 average, highest in the American League this season, and six hits in 10 swings against the Yankees in the playoffs.

Graig Nettles plays the position for the Yankees. He batted .254 during the regular season but led the American League in home runs with 32 — half as many as the entire Royals' club

LE Spikers Lose Match

Logan Elm's girls volleyball team dropped a tough match to Fisher Catholic, 11-15, 15-6, 10-15, in a Mid State League clash Tuesday on the Braves' court.

"We controlled the serving game but they beat us at the spiking game," Logan Elm coach Kathi Thompson commented. "We played good defense and both teams turned in fine overall performances. I am very proud of our reserves who played very well to take over the top spot in the league."

Logan Elm led 11-4 in the first game but suddenly lost its momentum and Fisher Catholic took advantage of it to come up with 11 straight points to win.

Diane Martin played very well for the Braves with 100 per cent efficiency on her serves, 83 per cent on spikes and 84 per cent on defensive bumps. Beth Bell was 14 of 17 on her serves for 82 per cent and 80 per cent on spikes. Diane Weaver was 100 per cent on spikes, 83 per cent on serves and 93 per cent on bumps. Krista Gifford, Patti Larson and Abby Rife all turned in fine defensive performances.

The Braves reserves defeated Fisher Catholic, 6-15, 15-6, 15-5, to gain top spot in the Mid State League.

Brenda Bell, Carla Ruff turned in good offensive jobs and Susan DeLong was seven for seven in her spiking game.

Ranee Cavender, Karen McDivitt and Pam Hoffman were strong on defense for the Braves.

The Logan Elm Varsity is now 3-4 and 3-2 in league play while the reserves are 6-1 overall and 5-0 in the Mid State.

Both teams will be at Westfall Thursday to meet the Mustangs.

Tiger Racquetters Lose To Unioto

Circleville's girls tennis team dropped a 4-1 decision to Unioto Tuesday on the Tigers' courts.

Here are the results of the matches: Sue Radcliff lost to Jackie Rahe, 1-6, 6-7; Ann Titus was defeated by Julia Davis, 3-6, 1-6; Kelly Steele lost to Brenda Loel, 0-6, 1-6.

Deanna Crawford-Shannon Yunker beat Susan Kozar-Cindy Ater, 6-3, 6-4; Laura Dowd-Denise Crawford lost to Cindy McCoy-Peg Scholl, 6-7, 3-6.

In an exhibition doubles match, Rojanne Bowers-Theresa Isaac were defeated by Peg Scholl-Brenda Loel, 8-0.

The stage was set and expanded early in the game by the Phils.

Mike Schmidt, an Ohio University graduate who had been handcuffed in the first two games, opened the fourth inning by pulling a Gary Nolan pitch between Pete Rose and the third base bag for a double. And Greg Luzinski followed with another two-base blow, this time to right field, to score Schmidt and give the Phils a 1-0 lead.

They struck for two more runs in the seventh off reliever Manny Sarmiento. Larry Bowa reached base on a walk, moved to third on a Garry Maddox double, and lead Maddox across the plate on Schmidt's second double of the game.

The Reds took the lead in the bottom of the inning with a four-run burst. Griffey reached first on a bouncer to deep second base, and Joe Morgan drew a walk that KOed Phil starter Jim Kaat.

Tony Perez greeted reliever Ron Reed with a run scoring single and George Foster scored Morgan with a sacrifice fly.

After Johnny Bench walked, Cesar Geronimo dropped a pop between Schmidt and left fielder Bobby Tolan that scored two runs and gave the Chief a triple.

But the Phils came back.

Facing Rawly Eastwick in the eighth inning, Jay Johnstone doubled, Bob Boone walked, and Bowa cleared the bases with a double that gave Philadelphia a 5-4 lead.

And, with two outs in the ninth inning, Jerry Martin reached base on a

Maddox had key doubles in the comeback inning but it was a ringing single by Nettles that delivered the go-ahead run.

"That was the biggest hit of my career," Nettles said.

And Herzog's only comment was somewhat grim.

"The Yankee third baseman has played better than mine in this series," he said.

Harsh words but they ring true. Nettles has made some outstanding defensive plays and delivered some timely hits against the Royals. And while Brett's bat has been productive, his glove has not.

Brett helped Kansas City touch up Dock Ellis for three first-inning runs. Brett drove home the first one with a base hit and then scored the second on a sacrifice fly by John Mayberry.

Kansas City starter Andy Hassler rode the 3-0 lead into the fourth and then with two out, Piniella drilled a ball between Brett and the third base bag. "Catchable," decided Herzog, "but it would have been an outstanding play if he made it."

He did not and the Royals paid dearly for the oversight when, two pitches later, Chambliss homered.

"On a scale of one to ten, I'd rate this game a four," said Ellis candidly.

For the Yankees, however, it was a two — the second of the three victories they need to advance to the World Series for the first time since 1964.

Catfish Hunter went for the clincher in today's fourth game with Larry Gura opposing him for Kansas City.

McKelvey Paces Tiger Golf Win

Mike McKelvey carded a 39 to take medalist honors and lead Circleville to a 171-179 win over Greenfield Tuesday at Buckeye Hills.

Other scores for the Tigers were: Mike Hamilton, 40; Dave Wylie, 45; Eric Berger, 47; Scott Sanders, 48.

Circleville will play Unioto today on the Chillicothe Jaycees Golf Course.

PCC Event Ends In Tie

Three teams carded a 34 to finish in a tie for first in the Couples Scramble Tournament at Pickaway Country Club.

The teams were: Larry McFadden, Vince DeFrank, Marge Porter and Ruth Elliott; Bob Brooks, Tom Shea, Gert Richerd and Connie Sherman; Rick Alkire, Brad Schneider, Evelyn Brooks and Terri DeFrank.

Pete Rose error and scored when Johnstone's fly to left was lost in the sun by Foster for a triple. That made the score 6-4.

Foster brought the 55,047 fans to their feet with a homerun to left field to open the inning, and Bench kept them there when he tied the game with another homer off Reed.

Concepcion cracked the only pitch thrown by Gene Graber for a single and Geronimo drew a walk on four pitches from a nervous Tommy Underwood.

After Ed Arbrister moved the runners ahead with an excellent sacrifice bunt, Underwood walked Rose to load the bases and set the stage for Griffey's bouncer to Tolan that won the game.

Both Reds' manager Sparky Anderson and the oft-beleaguered Bench were thinking of Johnny's wrong-field blast in the 1972 LCS that eventually led to a Cincinnati win.

And, following the blow off a Reed high fastball, Sparky knew he had the game won. "I felt we had the game then. There was no way they were going to beat us after we tied it. The suspense was trying to figure out how."

Before the game started, the Reds felt they wouldn't get to Kaat much before the sixth inning. "We just had to try and contain Philadelphia," said Bench.

From then, "it was just a matter of waiting for a good pitch," echoed Griffey, who at last got some satisfaction after being edged out on the last day for the National League batting crown.

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR THURSDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Some jobs procedures may be revised. You may not completely understand at first, but go along with the changes as best you can and you'll find that they work out very well.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Be sure of the logic of your statements and decisions. Recognize a bright idea — your own or another's — and put into action whichever seems most likely to succeed.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Mercury extremely generous. Especially favored: all those in the writing and journalistic fields; advertising and promotional interests; communications of every type.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Stars indicate some complications not easily unraveled. Yet, by diligent process, you will be able to rack up more than just fair results.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): A financial transaction could be highly profitable, but be sure you are aware of all the angles before you sign on the dotted line. Travel plans also favored.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Mixed influences. Look deeply into all situations before acting. Surface appearances could be misleading.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): No day for a shy violet. Let others know you have something of value to offer. What has seemed out of reach is closer than you may imagine.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Not a good day in which to commit yourself to a long-range program — especially if finances are involved. Review your ability to make necessary payments — and act accordingly.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Avoid tendencies toward overindulgence and contrariness. You can accomplish much if cooperative, and if you refuse to let frivolity interfere with necessary obligations.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Some good luck in business interests indicated. This will, therefore, be an excellent period in which to evaluate your progress as of now and make new plans for the future.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): What you feel is certainly could be more of an illusion, so take a second look. Better to change plans now, if necessary, than to be sorry later.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Stress self-control and self-reliance. Don't count too much on the cooperation of others. Plan a workable program and make all your commitments judiciously.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with great poise, remarkable intuition, foresightedness and an extremely philosophical outlook on life. LOS ANGELES (AP) — In an unprecedented action, CBS has formally beamed about NBC's wartime series, "Baa Baa Black Sheep," calling it "inappropriate" for the "family-viewing" hour in which it appears.

Nay, says NBC, the series is quite appropriate. A "Baa Baa" executive says CBS just got mean because "Baa Baa" was beating the competing Tony Orlando show. CBS strongly denies such a motive.

The whole thing started last week when CBS filed its complaint with National Association of Broadcasters TV code officials, whose "family viewing" rule went into effect in September 1975. CBS, which initially pushed the "family viewing" concept, thus became the first network, according to the NAB, to accuse another network of stepping beyond the Sanitary Divide in program content.

CBS said the first two episodes of "Baa Baa" were inappropriate — CBS censor Van Gordon Sauter said this meant they "exploit violence, glorify excessive drinking and condone dubious moral standards."

Sauter explained in an interview that "what we're saying (in the NAB complaint) is that if the series continues in that fashion, in our opinion it's a blatant violation of the family hour."

NBC, which now must respond to CBS' charges through the association, said in a statement that it considers the Tuesday series, which airs at 8 p.m. EDT, "appropriate programming for that time period."

The one-hour show, second in its time period in the ratings to ABC's "Happy Days" and "Laverne and Shirley," still has been beating CBS' Tony Orlando show on Tuesdays.

"Baa Baa" is loosely based on the exploits of Marine Col. Gregory "Pappy" Boyington and the fighter squadron he headed in the South Pacific in World War II.

The show's executive producer, Stephen J. Cannell, reacts to CBS' charge this way: "I suppose I ought to thank em' for the publicity. I find it (the complaint) the high point of hypocrisy."

"I don't think this has anything to do with the family hour. I think it's because CBS is in big Nielsen trouble in that time period."

Sauter's reply to that, "Our complaint is totally unrelated to matter of ratings."

And he said to attribute "such callous and unfounded motives" to CBS' use of procedures for discussing what is or isn't appropriate family programming "is detrimental to the whole concept of industry self-regulation."

Stockton Helffrich, director of the NAB code authority office, said he expected NBC's response to the CBS charge soon. The matter eventually could go to the full television code board for a ruling.

But he said he doubted CBS' action will touch off a series of tit-for-tat "family hour" complaints by competing networks, saying, "I think this is a typical situation."

SHRINERS GIVE TO BURNS INSTITUTE
— The Pickaway Shrine Club recently donated $1,000 to the Burns Institute of Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children, Cincinnati Unit. Since the local Shrine Club was formed 1959, $10,000 has been raised for crippled children and the burns institute. Officers of the local club are, seated from the left: Bill Dountz, vice president; Ralph Linscott, potentate; Judge William Ammer, president; Richard Snyder, local representative to Aladdin Temple. Standing, Dewey Downs, membership chairman; Harry Smith, second vice president; Aulten Carter, sergeant at arms; Bob Call, secretary-treasurer; Dick T. Tootle, chaplain.

Ford Calls Carter . . .

executives it would have been wrong to "shoot from the hip" on the Butz case. Ford accused Carter of doing that in the recent dispute over FBI Director Clarence Kelley. Carter had said if he were in Ford's job he would have fired Kelley for permitting FBI employees to do work at his home and for accepting gifts from subordinates. Ford, who refused to fire Kelley, said Carter "ended up looking a little ridiculous."

Earlier, in Brooklyn, Ford was faced with a small crowd of protesters waving signs and chanting "save Soviet Jewry." In a high school speech there, the President said he had always opposed the Arab boycott against Israel and against U.S. firms that hire Jews.

During the debate last week with Carter in San Francisco, Ford had said he was ordering the Commerce Department to make public the names of U.S. firms that have cooperated with the boycott.

But he said Tuesday that he meant only that any new companies that join the boycotting in the future will be exposed and not the estimated hundreds of firms that have reported their participation up to now.

Ford began his day Tuesday at the White House, where he reversed the position he took in last week's debate when he said "there is no Soviet domination of Eastern Europe."

That statement brought outcries from ethnic groups associated with Americans of Eastern European descent, and on Tuesday, in a meeting with leaders of various ethnic groups, he said, "The original mistake was mine. I did not express myself clearly."

He told the group, "The countries of Eastern Europe are, of course, dominated by the Soviet Union."

Following the White House meeting, Ford departed for New York and the ethnic leaders met with reporters to say they were satisfied with the President's reversal of his debate statement.

Although Carter was not campaigning, his headquarters issued a statement criticizing Ford's health policy. Carter said the Ford administration "has offered no substantial proposals, not even a suggestion" for dealing with rampant fraud and abuse found in the Medicaid system by Senate investigators.

Carter said the administration had made "no response at all" to the allegations. In fact, Ford administration witnesses announced Sept. 22 that they had dropped their opposition to antifraud bills in Congress and that they had decided such legislation was needed.

Attacking "an unprecedented 19 per cent increase" in hospitalization costs to be paid by Medicare patients, Carter proposed a bonus system for hospitals that bring costs down.

"Hospitals which find ways to save and succeed in spending less than the estimated rate will be permitted to keep a bonus portion of the savings. Hospitals which exceed the estimates will not be fully reimbursed," he said. He did not give a cost for such a plan.

Elsewhere, Sen. Joseph Biden, D-Del., said in Cedar Falls, Iowa, that independent candidate Eugene McCarthy "would be the best qualified" presidential candidate if he had a party behind him.

But Biden, the Democratic party's steering committee chairman, said he fears that all McCarthy can do is help Ford be elected president.

Farmers Union Sets Sunday Meeting

The Pickaway County Chapter of the National Farmers Union will hold a special meeting 2 p.m. Sunday at Morris Salem Church. All members are urged to attend. The agenda will concern Blue Cross and Blue Shield Insurance programs.

Union Representative Meets With Commissioners

Pickaway County Commissioners, prosecuting attorney, and the county engineering department met Tuesday with Jim VanDyke, a representative of the International Union of Operating Engineers.

VanDyke was seeking a commitment from the commissioners for his union to represent county highway employees in negotiations concerning wages and working conditions.

Commissioners Dick T. Tootle, L. Robert Liston and Donald Strous told VanDyke they could not agree to his request for recognition without first studying his proposal thoroughly.

County prosecutor Richard Gerhardt advised commissioners that although county engineer Henry McCrady is responsible for employing the personnel in his department, only the board of commissioners has the authority to sign contracts.

VanDyke told commissioners that if they did not recognize his organization, "there are legal remedies at hand that I don't think the county would like."

In addition to McCrady, his assistant Robert Parker attended the meeting. In other business Tuesday, commissioners talked to representatives of two consulting firms concerning soil boring tests at the proposed landfill site.

It was announced by commissioners the driveway and parking area at the Community Center will be improved. The nutrition program for senior citizens ins scheduled to begin there Oct. 25 and the senior citizens center will be moving there in the near future.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Southerly winds brought warmer temperatures to Ohio this morning, but the improvement was short-lived.

A cold front pushing southeastward across the Great Lakes was moving through the state today, sending temperatures falling.

Temperatures were to climb into the 70s over Ohio ahead of the cold front today. Some showers may develop by tonight in northeastern Ohio as cooler air crosses the warm waters of Lake Erie, but the air is generally dry over the state and no other rain is expected.

Cooler air spreading in behind the front will drop temperatures into the low 40s over Ohio tonight with lows probably reaching the upper 30s in parts of northwestern Ohio.

Partly cloudy weather Thursday will be accompanied by temperatures generally in the 60s.
